Boonville Warehouse

Boonville Indiana is located in Warrick County in southwestern Indiana near the Ohio River. The county adjoins the eastern border of Vanderburgh County and the City of Evansville. It is part of the Evansville (IN) - Henderson (KY) Metropolitan Area. Southwest Indiana has received national attention because several companies, including Conagra, Toyota and A-K Steel, have selected it as the location for major manufacturing facilities.

Warrick County is located within 500 miles of 1/3 of the nation's population and over half of the nation's manufacturing plants. Centered in the heart of the industrial Midwest, Warrick County is easily accessible to major urban centers via interstate highway, rail, air and water. Because of its central location, Warrick County is ideally located for "just in time" Shipping.

The Boonville facility is the newest warehouse in the American Cold Storage family. The warehouse is 2,552,570 cu. ft. fully racked refrigerated space opened in July 1996. The warehouse is configured to accommodate a variety of products with different temperature needs ranging from -25°F to +55°F including the ability to blast freeze 200,000 lbs. per day.

This facility uses an ammonia refrigeration system with complete 24-hour burglar, fire and refrigeration monitoring provided by ADT. The enclosed dock is 50 ft. wide with eight truck doors. Our rail car siding is serviced by Norfolk Southern and has a two car capacity.
