Louisville Warehouse

Since the inception of the city, Louisville, Kentucky has been a logistical hub for the economically diverse region that spans 23 counties and two states. Three interstate highways help make Louisville a day's drive to two-thirds of the country.

The Louisville warehouse, our largest with 5,149,786 cu. ft, is a one story reinforced concrete and steel warehouse opened in 1977 with additional space added in August 1987. The warehouse uses an ammonia refrigeration system and is configured to accommodate a variety of products with different temperature needs ranging from -25°F to +55°F including the ability to blast freeze 160,000 lbs. per day. For protection of your product, this facility is fully racked with approximately 22,000 pallet positions. We track your product with computerized inventory control and EDI.

To accommodate and meet your shipping needs, we have a flexible 24-hour a day operation. Our dock is fully refrigerated with 22 truck doors, three rail doors, and a private railroad track with capacity for over 80 railcars. The track is also large enough to accommodate the jumbo cars. Louisville Kentucky is the home to two major rail carriers – CSX and Norfolk & Southern. Our facility is one of the few warehouse locations served by both.

The safety and quality of your product is very important to us. We have received a superior rating from the American Sanitation Institute (ASI) for five consecutive years. A USDA inspector is on site on a daily basis, and ADT provides 24 hour monitoring of the sprinkler, refrigeration, and burglar alarm systems.
